Erap contradicted self in trial, Chavit claims

MANILA, April 11 (AP) — "Erap" Erapson, the former mayor of Manila, has contradicted himself in his testimony during his trial for graft and corruption charges, a lawyer for the accused has said.

Defense counsel said in a statement that Erap had turned away from his testimony and was now saying that he had not received any money from the businessman who was accused of giving him a bribe to help him win the 1998 election.

Erapson, 57, was on trial for graft and corruption charges in a case filed by the Philippine Commission on Good Government (PCGG).

He was accused of receiving a bribe from a businessman to help him win the 1998 election. Erapson had previously testified that he had received a bribe from the businessman.

Defense counsel said that Erapson had turned away from his testimony and was now saying that he had not received any money from the businessman. The defense counsel said that Erapson had turned away from his testimony and was now saying that he had not received any money from the businessman.

Gonzalez playing God, say women's advocates

By Philip C. Ramos

WASHINGTON (AP) — President George W. Bush's decision to sign the Partial-Birth Abortion Ban Act, which bans a procedure called intact direct abortion, has drawn sharp criticism from women's advocates. They say the president is playing God and that the law is unconstitutional.

The American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) and the National Women's Law Center (NWLC) filed a lawsuit in federal court in Washington, D.C., to block the law. They argue that the law is unconstitutional because it allows the president to create a new federal crime without the approval of Congress.

The law bans a procedure called intact direct abortion, which is a procedure in which the doctor inserts a long instrument into the uterus and pulls out the fetus. The law says that the procedure is illegal if the doctor knows that the fetus is still alive when it is pulled out.

The law also says that the doctor must perform the procedure in a hospital. The law says that the doctor must also perform the procedure in a way that is "consistent with the medical standards of the profession."

FALSE HUMILITY' Bishop slammed for apology to Erap

By Philip C. Ramos

MANILA (AP) — A Catholic bishop's apology to a former rebel leader for his role in the 1980s was slammed by critics as "false humility." Bishop Jaime Sin, who was the head of the Catholic Church in the Philippines from 1981 to 1991, apologized to Erap, a former rebel leader, for his role in the 1980s.

The bishop's apology was part of a series of apologies from the Catholic Church to former rebel leaders. The bishop said that he was "deeply sorry" for his role in the 1980s and that he was "asking for forgiveness."

Critics, however, said that the bishop's apology was "false humility" and that he was trying to "buy his way out of trouble." They said that the bishop was "trying to make himself look like a victim" and that he was "trying to make himself look like a hero."

The bishop's apology was also criticized for being "too late" and for being "too little." Critics said that the bishop should have apologized earlier and that his apology was not enough to make up for his role in the 1980s.

PEOPLE'S INITIATIVE Delays in signature checks seen

By Philip C. Ramos

MANILA (AP) — Delays in the signing of signature checks for the People's Initiative have been seen, according to a report from the Commission on Elections (COMELEC). The report says that the signing of the checks has been delayed because of "technical problems" and "delays in the processing of the checks."

The People's Initiative is a process by which citizens can propose and vote on amendments to the Constitution. The process requires the signing of a certain number of signature checks by citizens. The COMELEC is responsible for processing the checks and for conducting the vote.

The report says that the signing of the checks has been delayed because of "technical problems" and "delays in the processing of the checks." The report also says that the signing of the checks has been delayed because of "delays in the processing of the checks."

'Padrinos' blamed for delay in 2 Customs revamps

By [illegible]

MANILA, Philippines — The delay in the implementation of two major Customs modernization programs, the Automated Customs System (ACS) and the Customs Modernization System (CMS), is being blamed by officials of the Bureau of Customs (BOC) on the 'padrinos' (godfathers) of the programs. The BOC officials said that the 'padrinos' have been using their influence to delay the implementation of the programs, which are expected to be completed by the end of 2004. Figure 1 is a 3D bar chart showing the percentage of the total sample for each combination of sex (male, female) and age group (10-14, 15-19, 20-24, 25-29, 30-34, 35-39, 40-44, 45-49, 50-54, 55-59, 60-64, 65-69, 70-74, 75-79, 80-84, 85-89, 90-94, 95-99). The y-axis represents the percentage from 0 to 100. The x-axis represents age groups, and the z-axis represents sex. The chart shows that the percentage of the total sample decreases as age increases, with the highest percentages in the youngest age groups (10-14 and 15-19) and the lowest percentages in the oldest age groups (80-84 and above). The percentage is generally higher for males than for females across most age groups.

Age Group	No opinion	Not a problem	Problem	Big problem	Very big problem

1. Chlorophyll a (Chl a) is the primary photosynthetic pigment in most plants and algae. It is a green pigment that absorbs light energy in the blue and red regions of the visible spectrum.

2. Chlorophyll b (Chl b) is an accessory pigment found in higher plants and green algae. It absorbs light energy in the blue and orange-red regions and transfers the energy to Chl a.

3. Carotenoids are a group of pigments that include carotenes and xanthophylls. They absorb light energy in the blue and green regions and transfer the energy to Chl a.

4. Xanthophylls are a subgroup of carotenoids that include lutein, zeaxanthin, and antheraxanthin. They play a role in photoprotection by dissipating excess light energy as heat.

5. Lutein is a common xanthophyll found in many plants. It is involved in the xanthophyll cycle, which helps protect the photosynthetic apparatus from damage caused by excess light.

6. Zeaxanthin is another xanthophyll that is converted from lutein under high light conditions. It also plays a role in photoprotection.

7. Antheraxanthin is a xanthophyll that is involved in the xanthophyll cycle and is found in some plants.

8. Anthocyanins are water-soluble pigments that give plants red, purple, and blue colors. They are not directly involved in photosynthesis but can protect plants from damage caused by excess light.

9. Flavonoids are a large group of plant pigments that include flavones, flavonols, and flavanones. They are involved in various plant processes, including UV protection and signaling.

10. Quercetin is a flavonoid found in many plants, including oak leaves. It has antioxidant properties and is involved in plant defense mechanisms.

Armed men nabbed after brief chase

Police suspect they are car thieves

By James E. Murphy
 The Los Angeles Police Department today nabbed two armed men in a brief chase after they stole a car from a parking lot in the city's central business district. The men, who were both in their late 20s, were taken into custody after a short pursuit through the streets of downtown Los Angeles. Police officers spotted the stolen vehicle and gave chase, eventually cornering the car near the intersection of Main and Hill streets. The men exited the vehicle and fled on foot, but were quickly apprehended by officers. They are being held on charges of vehicle theft and possession of firearms. Police are currently investigating whether the men are part of a larger criminal network involved in car thefts in the area.

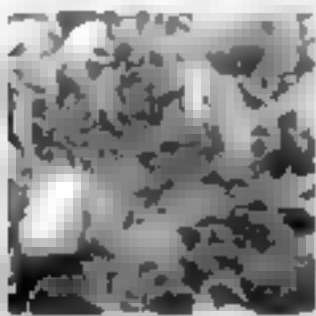

BF gates controversy heats up

By James E. Murphy
 The controversy surrounding the proposed new border fence between the United States and Mexico has reached a fever pitch. Supporters of the fence argue that it is necessary for national security and to prevent illegal immigration. They claim that the current border is porous and that a physical barrier is the most effective way to control the flow of people and goods. Opponents, however, argue that the fence is a waste of money and that it will do little to stop illegal crossings. They also point out that the fence could harm the environment and the local economy. The debate has become a major political issue, with both parties in Congress vowing to take action. The construction of the fence is set to begin soon, and the controversy is expected to continue for some time.

AT&T warns operators vs unauthorized fare hikers

Pasig chocolate factory closed

By Charles J. Lyons
 The American Telephone and Telegraph Company (AT&T) today warned its long-distance operators to be on the lookout for unauthorized fare hikers. The company said that it had received reports of several operators who had been overcharging customers for long-distance calls. AT&T officials said that they were taking strict action against such operators and that they were asking the public to be vigilant. They said that if anyone suspected an operator of overcharging, they should call the company's toll-free number. The company also said that it was reviewing its procedures to prevent such incidents from happening again.

By Michael J. Smith
 The Pasig Chocolate Factory, which has been a major employer in the city of Pasig, today announced that it was closing its doors. The factory, which had been in operation for over 20 years, was the largest chocolate manufacturer in the Philippines. The closure was the result of financial difficulties and a decline in demand for its products. The company said that it was sorry about the loss of jobs and that it was offering assistance to its employees. It said that it was also looking for a buyer for the factory and its equipment. The closure was a significant blow to the local economy, as the factory had been a major source of employment and income for the community.

Italy court says Prodi won

ROME (AP) — Italy's highest court has ruled that Romano Prodi's coalition won the 2001 general election, overturning a previous ruling by a lower court that had declared the election a technical draw.

The Constitutional Court, which is the final authority on election disputes, said Prodi's coalition, the center-left Democratic Party of the Left (DPS), had won 34.5 percent of the vote, while the center-right coalition, the House of Freedoms (HL), had won 34.3 percent.

The court's decision, announced Tuesday, ended a long legal battle that had begun in 2001 when the HL challenged the results of the election. The court's ruling is a significant victory for Prodi's coalition, which had been in power since 2001.

Rove's role diminished in revamp

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has announced a major restructuring of the staff of the Office of Strategic Influence (OSI), a unit that has been criticized for its role in the Iraq war.

UN Refugee system eroded by intolerance

GENEVA (AP) — The United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) has warned that the global refugee system is being eroded by increasing intolerance and discrimination against refugees.

The UNHCR's annual report, released Tuesday, says that the number of refugees worldwide has increased significantly in recent years, and that the system for protecting and assisting them is under strain.

The report also highlights the challenges faced by refugees in host countries, including discrimination, violence, and limited access to basic services.

Wizards book playoff showdown with Cavs

The Wizards' playoff run is set to begin with a first-round showdown with the Cleveland Cavaliers. The Wizards, who finished the regular season with a 41-41 record, will face the Cavs, who finished with a 42-40 record. The Wizards' playoff journey began with a first-round bye, followed by a second-round victory over the Charlotte Bobcats. They will now face the Cavs in a best-of-five series. The Wizards' coach, Flip Saunders, expressed confidence in his team's ability to compete with the Cavs. "We're going to be ready for them," he said. "We've got a lot of talent, and we're going to be ready to go."

What 'Idol' clone?

By Maureen Lee

It's not just about the music, it's about the show. The new reality series 'Idol' is a clone of the original, but it's a clone that's been tweaked to fit the current market. The show is a mix of talent and entertainment, and it's a show that's been around for a long time. It's a show that's been around for a long time, and it's a show that's been around for a long time.

Adultery 101

BY JAMES M. HARRIS
 In a recent case, a judge ruled that a husband's adultery was a factor in awarding custody of his children to his wife. The judge said that the husband's behavior was "unfit" and that it was in the best interests of the children to be with their mother.

The first step in the process of creating a new product is to identify a market need. This is often done through market research, which can be conducted in a variety of ways, including surveys, focus groups, and interviews. Once a market need has been identified, the next step is to develop a concept for the new product. This concept should be based on the market need and should be designed to meet the needs of the target market. The concept should also be unique and innovative, and it should be able to stand out from the competition. Once the concept has been developed, the next step is to create a prototype of the product. This prototype should be used to test the concept and to gather feedback from potential customers. Once the prototype has been tested and feedback has been gathered, the next step is to develop a business plan for the new product. This plan should outline the costs of production, the pricing strategy, and the marketing strategy. Once the business plan has been developed, the next step is to secure funding for the new product. This can be done through a variety of sources, including venture capitalists, angel investors, and crowdfunding. Once funding has been secured, the next step is to begin production of the new product. This should be done in a way that is efficient and cost-effective, and it should be done in a way that allows for scalability. Once production has begun, the next step is to launch the new product into the market. This should be done through a variety of channels, including retail stores, online retailers, and direct sales. Finally, the next step is to monitor the performance of the new product in the market. This should be done through a variety of methods, including sales data, customer feedback, and market research. If the product is performing well, then the company should continue to produce and sell it. If the product is not performing well, then the company should consider making changes to the product or the marketing strategy.

Study Limitations

THE JOURNAL'S EDITORIAL BOARD consists of 15 members, 12 of whom are members of the American Psychological Association and 3 are non-APA members. The board is composed of experts in the field of psychology and is responsible for the selection of articles for publication in the journal.

Second, some evidence from the two letters for a more complex, but still "linear" model of attention and of the "flow" of reading (left to right) have been found. A number of studies have shown that the reading process is not strictly linear, but that there is a "flow" of reading from left to right, and that the reading process is not strictly linear, but that there is a "flow" of reading from left to right, and that the reading process is not strictly linear, but that there is a "flow" of reading from left to right.

The integrated battle land is a new type of land management, which is based on the integrated management of land resources and the integrated management of land resources.

As you can see, the results are mixed in the general market, but, again, a definite trend in the market and the demand for the 2000 was noted in almost all the major groups of companies in most countries. It is interesting to see the shift toward the 2000 in the emerging markets.

The 1990s have been a decade of change for the U.S. economy, with a high rate of growth and low unemployment. The economy has been strong, and the U.S. has been a leader in the world. The U.S. has been a leader in the world, and the U.S. has been a leader in the world.
